American Citizen. His career of glory through life was unstained by crime; and his death was felt as a loss by every individual of that community, whose political existence was the fruit of his exertions.

THE FAREWELL ADDRESS of General Washington is the condensed result of long experienced, matured reflection and strong anxiety for the permanent prosperity of his country. His advice concerning the great importance of maintaining indissolubly the federal Union: the danger of indulging too much in party feelings:—the necessity of supporting public credit at home:—of maintaining public faith in all our transactions with foreign nations: of encouraging foreign intercourse free from foreign attachments:—are so many lessons of prudence which we should do well to bear in constant remembrance. Why therefore should not his legacy of wisdom and affection, be so published, as to admit of being constantly before our eyes? An ornament to our apartments, while it serves as a memento to guide our public feelings, and to manifest that the author lives in our memories?

To make it such, is the aim of the proposed Edition.

The Publishers are determined that the Address shall be printed on paper of the same quality and size as the splendid edition of the Declaration of Independence now engraving, & shall in all respects be a companion worthy that great State paper.

As errors are known from various causes to find their way into the most important writings, the publishers feel it their duty, not only to satisfy themselves, but to satisfy the public, of the authenticity of the copy from which this splendid Edition of the Farewell Address shall be published.

MR. GEORGE BRIDPORT will complete the Design; of which the following is an outline:—The introductory part of the Address, in highly finished ornamental penmunship, shall form the upper part;—the other parts of the plate, shall be appropriate ornaments;—in the centre below shall be engraved, from an historical design for this publication by Mr. Sully the Surrender of the British Army at York-town, October 19, 1781.

The Address itself shall be printed with type of a peculiar and appropriate character, designed for this purpose by Mr. Fairman, and to be cut and cast by our best artists. No more of the type shall be cast than will be necessary to execute this Address & when it shall be compleated, the type and the matrices in which it was cast shall be utterly destroyed; so that no other work shall ever be executed by the same letter which shall have printed the "FAREWELL ADDRESS" of him who lived and died, first in War; first in Peace, and first in the hearts of his Countrymen.

The paper, of the first quality, 36 by 26 inches, will be made by MR. AMIES. The INK shall be carefully prepared, and of the best materials.

The signature of General Washington from which it is proposed to execute a fac simile for this publication, is that which he affixed to the Constitution of the United States, when he signed it as President of the Convention in which it was framed; Thus associating and concentrating some of the greatest events in the life of this great man and in the history of his Country.

The ornamental writing will be designed and executed in the very best manner; the ornamental parts of the design and vignette, will be engraved by G. FAIRMAN: and the Typographical part executed by John Binns. They will take especial care of the execution of their several duties in this respect, and they will call to their aid, all that liberality, zeal and industry can command from the Sciences and Arts, so as to make the "Farewell Address" no mean specimen of the state of the Fine Arts in the United States.

As much progress has already been made in designing and procuring materials for this splended edition of Gen. Washington's "Farewell Address," it is expected it will be ready for delivery, with the Splended Edition of the Declaration of Independence, in the month of December next. That the public may have a more perfect view of the design and style of execution, than can be given in a proposal, of this Tribute to the memory of him who was "a Conqueror for the Freedom of his Country! A "Legislator for its Security! A magistrate for its Happiness," it is not intended to solicit any Subscsiptions until the Ornamental parts of the plate shall be executed. It will then be submitted for public inspection and public patronage, at five dollars a Copy, payable on the delivery of the Engraving. Philadelphia, July 31.

ABSCONDED from the subscriber's service, on Saturday night the 15th inst. Negro woman TREACE or TREACY —she is five feet two or three inches high, about 30 years of age, of a very dark complexion, and when particularly examined is very apt to confound herself.—It is deemed unnecessary to mention her clothing, as she has all of them with her, and being extremely artful, she no doubt will change them and endeavor to pass for a free woman. She is well acquainted in Charles county, Prince George's, Alexandria and the City, as about 5 years ago she made her escape, and was 6 or 7 months about the Lower Ferry, leading to Alexandria, and from thence to Washington City, where she acquired an extensive acquaintance among the Negroes belonging to John Brent, esq.; and the greater part of said Negroes belong now to William and Rober Brent, esqrs. and Mr. Dudley Diggs. Negro Treace has a scar on the back part of her neck, occasioned by a seaton put for the benefit of her eyes, which are very weak at this time. I will give 10 dollars if taken in the county and secured in jail, or if out of the county and secured as aforesaid, so that I get her again, 25 dollars, and all reasonable charges paid if brought home. All persons are forewarned harboring or employing said Negro at their peril, as the law will be rigorously put in force against any offender.

FIFTY DOLLARS REWARD.

I WILL give the above reward for apprehending and lodging in any jail in the District of Columbia, a person by the name of JOHN POST, a Bricklayer and Stonemason, who has been at work for about two months past at Fort Washington, and was discharged on the 7th of September inst.—He says he was born in the state of New-York; is about 6 feet 9 or 10 inches high, and has sandy hair: he had with him an apprentice boy, nearly grown. A few days previous to his leaving Fort Washington he took the liberty of borrowing, in the name of Mr. John Cohagen, from a lady at that place 15 dollars, which was not known till after he left it; and immediately after he was discharged and paid off, he forged two checks in the name of the Subscriber, on the Farmers' Bank of Alexandria, one of which he procured the money for at the Bank, and the other he passed to a person in Alexandria, which was detected and refused.—Previous to his coming to Fort Washington, he worked in the City of Washington, where he said he intended to work again; but it is probable he has not stopped so near the theatre of his villany.

Persons are cautioned against being imposed on by him. BOLITHA LAWS.

Natural History.

Mr. Editor,

A gentleman of my acquaintance who lately made a tour of business through the Caribbean Islands, being a man of taste and inquiry as well as a merchant, has stored his common place book with a variety of particulars, all of them curious, and many of them so interesting, as subjects of natural history, that on reading them I thought I could not better evince my desire to accommodate you and serve your paper, than by transcribing some of them for your use. That which has struck me most forcibly is the following account of an extraordinary cavern in the island of Antigua.

This cavern is on the eastern side of the island—is very spacious, of a circular shape, and about eighty feet in depth. Although it appears to be considerably lower than the level of the sea, there is no water in it. How it originated has never been accounted for even plausibly.—Some have imagined that it was formerly the mouth of an extinguished volcano—but that suggestion is completely superseded by the fact that no appearance whatever of pumex or any other vestiges of fire has been discovered near it. In some places, the water filtering through the pores of the vast rocks that bend in gloomy arches over the head, form a great number of stalactites which are suspended from the roof and down the sides of the cavern, and produce a beautiful effect. The rains continually washing down the mould into the bottom, have formed there a thick, rich soil, in which a great number of lofty trees flourish with great luxuriance; and the prodigious numbers of wild deer and goats who make this recess their asylum, add considerably to its fertilization, by the quantity of manure they afford.

The cavern is divided into two distinct apartments, by a verdant curtain of vines which runs exactly through the middle of it; and having now subsisted there for many years, has gradually crept up and fastened its topmost branches to the pinnacles of the rocks that form the circumference of the cave. The extreme thickness of this curtain, and the refreshing verdure of the clustering foliage make it one of the most grateful objects, in this hot climate, that can be imagined. —

Of the various kinds of fishes which abound in the Caribbean seas, there is one commonly called 'the Sea Devil'—or Raia Marta, and is the most extraordinary animal in nature. It is of the ray kind—the sting ray—and is not only of a monstrous size but a most hideous aspect. The body, which is flat, runs to about twelve feet in length and seventeen in breadth:—The mouth four feet wide: the body about two feet in depth, or thickness; the tail fourteen feet long, and tapering to a fine point. One of these was killed at a place called Rendezvous bay, in this island, which required seven yoke of oxen to draw him on shore. —

A description of the Catfish of these seas, the Baracuda, will rather surprise those who have known no other fish of the name than the harmless and wholesome animals drawn from the Potomac, Delaware, and other American rivers. This of the Leeward Islands, now discovered, is a fish of astonishing and terrible voracity. The Baracuda frequently attcaks and devours men, who are so imprudent as to go bathing in the open sea, and is more dangerous even than the shark—for the latter having his mouth placed beneath a long, projecting snout, is obliged to turn on its back before he can devour his prey, which affords an opportunity, or at least a chance, of escape—for many swimmers are so bold that they carry cutlasses in the water with them—and while the shark is turning, they are sometimes lucky enough to give him a mortal blow—whereas the Baracuda is very swift, comes with open mouth, and possesses such prodigious agility that it is utterly impossible to elude his rapacious jaws.

In Antigua there is also a very mischievous insect of the moth species, which is called by naturalists the Eruca Saccharivora, but in its caterpillar state is denominated the Borer, from its property of perforating the body of the sugar cane, sucking out the juice, and reducing the pith to powder. It has long been a pest to those islands, and it has been found impossible to extirpate it: repeated experiments have been tried for the purpose; but none have yet succeeded. They are so extremely, and so singularly hardy, that though attempts have been made to kill them by plunging them into a bottle of spirits of wine, which every one knows is instantaneous death to every other insect, yet in nine and thirty hous afterwards the Borer would be found floating about alive, and brisk as if nothing had befallen it. In form it resembles the white round maggot that breeds in the shell of filberts.

The last thing I shall now mention to you is an Animal Flower, (Ascidia) that is found adhering to the rocks in these islands. This extraordinary animal is of the worm or grub kind, with a circular busch of tentaculæ round its mouth: this, when expanded, resembles a carnation or pink, and is often of the most lively and glowing colors. A slender tube attached to a rock contains the body of the animal, which appears like the stalk, and into which when alarmed it withdraws its spreading flower; but soon puts it forth again, as its use, like a casting net, is to inclose and convey into the mouth smaller insects for its food. The larger kind have no tube or covering, but adhere to the rock in holes or chinks by means of many thousand little tubes or suckers placed on all parts of its body. The head is adorned with five short stalks, each forming a small radius like an umbellated flower, every small radius composing a part of a larger one. The colors of this species of Ascidia are generally either brown or black. Z.

RAPID RISE OF PERSONAL PROPERTY.

About eighten months ago, we had an account of a man selling his wife for six shillings, out of which he was to allow the purchaser the price of a mug of ale; subsequently another was sold at an advance of eighty-five dollars; and we now learn from a Tennessee paper, one has recently been sold in that state for three hundred and twenty-five dollars! Should the market continue to improve at this rate, we know not who besides cotton planters will be able to afford wives. We would advise girls to hold back—the demand will be brisk towards frost. [Columbia Telescope.

Norfolk, October 21.

Captain Johnson, of the cutter Flying Fish, from St. Thomas, informs, that accounts from St. Bartholomews and Martinique had been received there by drogers, which stated that there had been something of a hurricane experienced at each of those Islands on the 23d of Sept. and that in each instance two American vessels had been lost. Capt. J. could learn no further particulars. [Reading Room Books.

New-York, October 21.

FROM THE EAST INDIES.

By the ship Mentor, capt. Loring, arrived yesterday, in 127 days from Calcutta, we have received a file of newspapers to the 18th of April.—they contain no news of moment.

A South American privateer of 40 guns, with a crew of all nations, had made her appearance off Manilla, and excited much alarm.

The cholera morbus, which had proved fatal to an immense number of persons in India, had for a while abated—the latest account states that it was again raging to a considerable extent. An idea may be formed of the fatal attacks of this disease in India, when we mention, that persons in perfect health at noon, are found a corpse before night.

Accounts from Ceylon represent the insurrection to have assumed a more serious character. A number of chiefs had joined the rebels. Large bodies of troops had been sent from Madras to quell them. [Daily Advertiser.

Philadelphia, October 21.

Extract of a letter, dated Lisbon, September 5.

"Very considerable supplies of Indian corn from the Mediterranean and your ports having arrived suddenly, we regret to say our prices have declined materially, and very likely the —— will proceed to Porto without delay, where the market, although likewise overstocked, still seems to afford better prospects than ours.

"Several forced sales of corn have been effected here, and to-day we understand a cargo of inferior Italian has been sold at the very low price of 380 Rs. per alquier on board. It is impossible to quote prices with exactness at the present moment, as they are nearly nominal. We should think 450 to 480 would be the utmost we could obtain for the best round yellow.

Trenton, October 19.

INSURRECTION AT THE STATE PRISON.

On the 17th inst. about 4 in the afternoon, another desperate attempt was made by the convicts in the New-Jersey State Prison, near Trenton, to effect a general jail delivery.

The plot developed as the grated door leading to the keeper's apartments, was opened by a young man, the keeper's son. One of the most athletic and powerful men among the prisoners, who was standing near, sprang upon the door and held it open. An assistant keeper, who came up, exerted himself in vain to shut the door, several of the prisoners in the plot, soon advancing, and pressing upon him. The young man immediately retreated to the counting room of the institution, where are kept the arms for its protection: he was quickly followed by the principal assailant, but succeeded in getting a loaded pistol, and turning upon the culprit, bade him keep back. The desperado still pushing on, received the contents of the pistol in his side and abdomen—he staggered and fell in a corner of the room; but soon recovered, and seizing one of the loaded muskets near him, was aiming at the young man, as his father, Francis Labaw, the principal keeper, got into the room, who rushed upon the culprit and succeeded in so far elevating the piece that its contents, as it was discharged, passed over his son's head, and lodged in the partition wall. This desperate culprit, weakened with the effects of his wounds and the loss of blood, now surrendered and was disarmed. The assistant keeper, who was engaged at the grated door, although he had received several stabs from the prisoners with whom he was contending, had by this time succeeded in closing the door, after two or three had passed through. These, however, were pursued and soon after brought back.

The wounds which the assistant keeper, Joseph Dye, received, though severe, are not considered dangerous. The prisoner, who was shot, languishes with little prospect of recovering. He appears to be as hardened in his feelings on the occasion, as he was fearless and desperate in his conduct. [Federalist.

We have never witnessed an event, which has excited so deep, universal and lively an interest in this state, as the treaty which is about to be held with the Chickasaw Indians. An extensive and fertile tract of country, lying between the rivers Tennessee and Mississippi, embracing nearly one third of the state of Tennessee and a part of Kentucky, we understand is to be the subject of this negociation.

Whether the acquisition of this territory be regarded in a polttical point of view or as an act of justice to individuals, it is equally interesting and important. During the progress and at the close of the American revolution, the territory south west of the Ohio, now styled the state of Tennessee, constituted a part of the state of North Carolina. At that period, it was compatible with the laws of North Carolina, for Individuals to enter and appropriate vacant lands, any where within the chartered limits of the state and perfect titles to the same, although the Indian claim had never been extinguished thereto. At the close of the revolutionary war, it was found impracticable from the dearth and wretched state of the currency of the United States, adequately to compensate the officers and soldiers who had fought and bled to secure our independence. But desirous as far as it was practicable, to remunerate them for the privations, toils, and dangers they had encountered, the state of North Carolina, as an act of justice, conveyed to them and their heirs, certain portions of land, then lying within the Indian boundary, but embraced by the charter of that state.

In pursuance of the laws of North Carolina, from 2, to 6,000,000 acres of land were thus appropriated from 30 to 40 years ago, in that section of the state of Tennessee, which is now attempted to be acquired from the Chickasaw Indians by purchase. And the officers and soldiers of the revolution, who fought, bled, and died, to establish our independence and our boasted government, have nearly all been suffered to pass off the stage of action, before one vigorous effort has been made by that government, to place them in the enjoyment of this small pittance for their services.

This act of justice and magnanmity has been reserved for President Monroe, who was himself an officer of the revolution, and who can too well appreciate the importance of the services of his compatriots and companions in arms, to withhold from them for a moment, the inconsiderable reward which has long ago been awarded, but shamefully procrastinated in its consummation. Liverpool, Sept. 4.

THE QUEEN.

The Courier states, that her Majesty has been relapsing ever since Wednesday se'nnight; and since Sunday, she has experienced a recurrence of all the most distressing symptoms of her complaint. The bulletin of Wednesday last is as follows:—"The Queen remains very much indisposed, but has passed a better night than was expected."

BONAPARTE.

A weekly paper contains the following paragraph:—"We have it from the highest authority, that it is the declared purpose of the Emperor Alexander, the moment the Congress commences its sitting at Aix-la-Chapelle, to insist on Bonaparte's being allowed to return to Europe, and either to live in England as a prisoner of war, on his parole; or should our government refuse its assent to this proposition, at all events to insist upon his removal forthwith from the barren rock upon which he is at present confined."

DREADFUL FIRE.

On Sunday night, a dreadful fire broke out on board a west country barge, lying in the London Docks. It was occasioned by the carelessness of one of the boatmen; th devouring element spread to the adjoining ware-houses, caught a bottle of phosphorus, and blew up the whole of the adjoining premises.

ANIMAL REMAINS.

There have been recently discovered in the parish of Motteston, on the south side of the Isle of Wight, the bones of that stupendous animal the Mammoth, or Mastodon, several of the vertebræ, or joints of the back-bone, measuring thirty-six inches in circumference: they correspond exactly in form, colour, and texture, with the bones found in plenty on the banks of the Ohio in North America, in a vale called by the Indians, Big-bone Swamp. Also in the parish of Northwood, on the north side of the island, the bones of the Crocodile have recently been found by the Rev. Mr. Hughes, of Newport. They seem to have belonged to an animal of that species, whose body did not exceed twelve feet in length. Their calcareous nature is not altered; but the bones of the Mastodon (found on the north side of the island) contain iron.

HUGE ANIMAL.

A correspondent in Constable's Edinburgh Magazine, signing himself "Thomas Pollock, Blantire by Hamilton," avers that being a sergeant in the Hudson's Bay Company in 1803, and travelling with the late Mr. Louis into the interior of North America, he suddenly came upon an animal of immense size. It appeared about 20 feet in height, and had a very unwieldy appearance. The largeness of its belly was enormous, and nearly touching the ground. Its colour was a dirty black. Mr. Louis saw its footsteps, and dung: the latter indicated that its food was vegetables, and the former gave a print nearly two feet square. The hoof was not divided, but, from the impression, seemed as it hollow in the middle.

SHIPWRECK.

The Sine, capt. N. Doak, sailed from this port, on Monday last, for Boston, having on board 34 passengers, and on Thursday night about 8 o'clock struck on the Plaiters, on the Welsh Coast, near the Skerries Light house, and in about an hour the vessel went down, and 13 of the passengers were drowned; the rest of them and the crew were saved by a pilot boat, which fortunately happened to be near at the moment. Not a single article, either belonging to the ship or the passengers, was saved. Among the passengers saved, is a boy about fourteen years of age who has lost both his parents by this distressing event. The crew and the paasengers saved were afterwards put on board the Mary & Sally from Salem, and arrived here on Friday.—About 10 o'clock on the night previous to this fatal occurrence, the Sine ran down the brig Dash, from Bangor for London, when unfortunately three of the crew were drowned; the survivors, two in number, were saved by the Sine, and were on board when that vessel was wrecked. Great praise, we are informed is due to the people on board the pilot boat, for their active exertions in rescuing the persons on board the Sine from their perilous situation.

PUNCTUATION.

The contract lately made for lighting the town of Liverpool during the ensuing year, has been thrown void by the misplacing of a comma in the advertisements, thus: "the lamps are at present about 4050, and have in general two spouts each, composed of not less than twenty threads of cotton."—The contractor would have proceeded to furnish each lamp with the said twenty threads; but this being but half the usual quantity, the commissioners discovered that the difference arose from the comma following, instead of preceding the word each. The parties agreed to annul the contract, and a new one is now ordered.

ANECDOTE.

Henry IV. of France being one day on a hunting match, lost his party, and was riding alone. Observing a country fellow standing upon a gate, apparently on the watch, he asked him what he was looking for. 'I'se come here (says he) to see the king.' 'Get up behind me (replied the monarch) and I will soon conduct you to the place where you may see him.' Hodge, without any scruple, mounted: but as they were riding along he put this sagacious question to his companion—'They tell me he has got a power of lords we'un,—how may a body know which is he?' The king replied, 'that he would be able to distinguish him by seeing that all his attendants took off their hats, while he himself remained covered.' Soon after they joined the hunt, when all the circle, as may well be expected, were greatly surprised to see the king so oddly attended. When they were arrived, his majesty turning to the clown, asked him if he could tell which was the king? 'I don't know, (answered he) but faith it must be one of us, for we've both got our hats on.'

London fashions for September.

WALKING DRESS.

An open robe composed of jackonet muslin, and trimmed with mull muslin laid on full: the fullness is drawn in by welts; there are two round the bottom, and a heading. Over this is a very broad piece welted in five places, which has also a heading—it is trimmed down the fronts with a double fulness of muslin, in the middle of which is a welt, the body is made tight to the shape, and has a collar welted, to correspond with the trimming. Long sleeves, of an easy fulness, finished at the wrist, also to correspond. Over this robe is worn a spencer, which is composed of a new material, of a beautiful pale canary color; the waist is short, the back a moderate breadth, and the sleeve which is of an easy fulness, falls a little off the shoulder. The bust is slightly ornamented with evening primrose satin: the sleeve, which falls a good deal over the hand, is also edged with it, and, there is a narrow band goes across the wrist to correspond. The shoulder is very tastefully finished with full puffs of satin, each fastened down by a silk button of the same color. The spencer comes up to the throat, and the collar of the dress falls over. The headdress is a French bonnet of the same material; it is of a moderate size, and is finished at the edge of the brim with primrose satin, and tied under the chin with ribbon to correspond; a bunch of flowers and an elegant plume of ostrich feathrs are placed on one side. Gloves and shoes, pale canary colour.

EVENING DRESS.

A transparent gauze dress over a white satin slip: the bottom of the skirt is ornamented with trimming composed of double gauze cut bias; the heading of this trimming is disposed in large plaits, the lower part falling in an easy fulness; it is slightly festooned; a row of pointed taffeta goes round it, and a full blown rose is placed on each festoon. The body is cut very low in the back of the neck, and shows the shoulders, but it is so contrived as to come high over the bosom. Very short full sleeves, which, as well as the body, are elegantly ornamented with pointed tulle. Head-dress the coronet cap, composed of white satin and tulle, with a slight intermixture of evening primrose satin. The upper part is entirely white satin; it is in the form of a crown; the lower part has a fulness of tulle round the face, which is very becoming.—Necklace and ear-rings colored stones.—White kid gloves, and white satin shoes. [Ackermann's Repository.

PARISIAN WALKING DRESS.

Round dress of printed muslin, of a ceruleanblue, s otted with black, with bordered flounces of the same material to correspond; between each flounce a layer placed of black brocaded satin ribbon. Bonnet of straw colored gossamer satin, ornamented on the left side with a single full blown rose, and a plume of white feathers. Cachemire sautoir, and parasol of barbel blue, fringed with white. Slippers of pale blue kid, and washing leather gloves.

ENGLISH DINNER DRESS.

Round dress, of fine Bengal muslin, with a superbly embroidered border; the border surmounted by two flounces richly embroidered at the edges, and headed by muslin bouillone run through with Clarence-blue satin; Meinungen corsage of the same color, with small pereline cape, elegantly finished with narrow rouleaux of white satin and fine lace; Parisian cornette of blond, with a very full and spreading branch of full-blown roses placed in front.

A CURIOUS AND EXTRAORDINARY CIRCUMSTANCE.

In the year 1787 it was decided at Grenoble, that a child, born of the wife of M. de Beaumont, in the course of four years, during which time he had been absent from her, was legitimate, & that she had conceived by thinking on her husband. The decision was founded on the examination of midwives, who all declared that such had frequently been the case.

GOOD AND BAD SIGNS.

It is a good sign to see a Farmer rise up early and go about his own business—but it is a very bad one to see him rise late and dive into his neighbor's affairs.

It is a good sign to see a Mechanic in his shop at five in the morning, and to hear his hammer at eight in the evening—but is a very bad sign to see him in the grog shop for a dram at eleven, or at the gaming table at midnight.

It is a very good sign to see a landlord in his bar waiting on travellers—but quite a bad one to see him there waiting upon himself. N. H. Centinel.

Valuable Land for Sale.

HAVING more land in the tract on which I reside than I can farm to advantage, I will expose to public sale, on the 5th day of NOVEMBER next, if fair, if not the next fair day, eight hundred acres, divided into lots of two hundred acres: each lot has seventy acres in wood;—of the cleared land one hundred and fifty acres are in clover, and two hundred in rye and wheat. This land is situated ten miles below Alexandria, and is bounded north and east by Accotink creek, which separates the lower part of it from Jonathan Janney's mill, where the Alexandria price can be had for grain.—It is as fertile as any land in the county, and as susceptible of improvement, by clover and plaster, as any I have seen. Persons wishing to view it will call on the subscriber, living at Cedar Grove, one mile below Janney's mill.

The terms will be one-third of the purchase money in hand, and the balance in two equal annual payments. The sale will take place at 12 o'clock, on the premises.

Gunston for Sale.

THIS elegant estate is situated on the Potomac, 16 miles below Alexandria—it is bounded on three sides by the Potomac and Pohick creek, and contains nearly 3,000 acres of land, level and fertile, to which are attached six shad and herring fisheries, two of which command the river channel. This land will be laid off in four tracts, so as to have one or more fisheries to each; these tracts will be again divided if requisite. This estate is level and beautifully situated, very fertile, and remarkably healthy. Plaister acts with an effect equal to that of any part of Virginia or Pennsylvania.—I have used 500 bushels in twelve months, and such is its beneficial operation, that were I to keep this land I should considerably increase the quantity. A manufacturing mill is distant about two miles, on a stream navigable for vessels carrying 1200 bushels of wheat, where the Baltimore and Dist. of Columbia prices are given for grain: being bounded on 3 sides by water, a small extent only of fence is necessary to inclose the whole: it would be admirably adapted to grazing. The improvements are a large and very substantial brick mansion, 40 by 70 feet, with every necessary outhouse, three commodious barns, houses for Negroes, and fish houses at each of the fisheries. 120,000 bricks and 1000 bushels of lime are just burnt on the premises. There is a considerable extent of live fence, both useful and ornamental, two orchards of well selected apples and peach, besides an abundance of other choice fruit. More than 150 acres are in clover, 200 in corn, and land is in preparation for sowing 250 bushels of small grain. Any quantity of hay can be cut from the low grounds, some of which (and all might,) have been reclaimed at a trifling expense. The river and creeks, abound with wild fowl, particularly canvass backs, the woods with deer and a variety of other game. Mules, cattle, highly improved sheep, farming utensils and household furniture can be had. The terms of sale will be accommodating. Property in any of the cities, negroes, bank stock, western lands, or lands near the Ridge, will be taken in payment.—Letters must be addressed to me at Pohick Church, Fairfax county, Virginia.
September 4 GEORGE MASON.

Valuable Property for Sale.

THE subscriber is desirous of selling a handsomely situated farm, on Hunting creek, in Fairfax county Virginia, adjoining the Mount Vernon estate and the lands of general Thomson Mason, four miles from Alexandria, containing about 240 acres, 80 of which are in wood—40 to 50 in thriving meadow of clover and timothy—a part of the residue recently seeded with wheat and rye, and clover, last spring—the whole enclosed with a new post and rail fence.—The improvements are, a comfortable and convenient frame dwelling house and kitchen, smoke house, poultry house, granary and stables.—There is on this place a rich and productive garden, and a large body of marsh meadow, from which may be saved annually 100 tons of hay, nearly as nutricious as the best timothy or clover.—With the farm would be sold a number of very valuable horses, cows and sheep; waggon, carts, and a variety of farming utensils and household and kitchen furniture; corn, oats and rye, and 40 tons hay. Also, adjoining the one above described, a farm containing 160 acres, recently enclosed, on which is a brick house, which a trifling expense would render comfortable. The soil is excellent, and a considerable part might be easily converted into meadow.—it would be sold with the other or separately. Also, a number of valuable servants, male and female. To prevent unnecessary application, he would observe, that they will only be sold to persons residing in the District or its vicinity, and not to be carried from it. The subscriber will also sell the greater part of his household furniture which is new and handsome. For terms of all or any part of the above property, apply to NOBLET HERBERT, esq. or Auction & Commission Store.

NATHL. P. BIXBY & CO. respectfully inform their friends and the public generally, that they have taken that large and commodious store formerly occupied by the late Mr. Thomas [illegible]son, nearly opposite the Union Bank, [illegible]ge-st. where they will transact all kinds of business in the Auction and Commission line; and as they are determined to give their exclusive attention to that business alone, those gentlemen who are disposed to employ them, have the best guarantee that they will be fairly dealt by. They flatter themselves that a punctual, diligent, and correct attention, together with their general knowledge of business, will secure to them at least an equal share of public patronage. Their intention is to avoid, as much as possible, retailing goods at auction. They are now prepared to receive goods of every description, to sell at public or private sale, and will attend to sales of property at any place within the town.

Gone to the Southward or Westward,

A YELLOW WOMAN, called Celia Detcher, in the 23d year of her age, about 5 feet 2 or 3 inches high—marks like moles on the right side of her face, which, with several letters on her left arm, were made with india ink. She is about four months gone in a state of pregnancy—followed her husband, Jim Clark, a yellow man, who was purchased from this place and taken away in company with a large number of slaves, about two week ago, by a man of the name of Basset. It is supposed they have gone to the westward: Celia was born free, and had with her a notarial certificate of her freedom, and description of her person. Her mother, the subscriber, is much afflicted by her manner of going away, and desires that any humane people who may chance to meet with her, will persuade her to return, being apprehensive that when she gets into a strange country, where she will be unknown and out of the reach of her friends and those who would be likely to protect her, attempts may be made by some avaricious and unprincipled persons, to deprive her of her liberty, and sell her for a slave. Should any such attempts be made, fifty dollars reward will be paid to any person who will communicate such information as shall lead to the conviction of the offenders, and the recovery of the woman.

PROPOSALS,
By Gideon Fairman, John Binns and Charles S. Parker,
TO PUBLISH
A Splendid Edition of Washington's Farewell Address,
To the People of the United States.

THE world has seen enough of warriors and of Heroes—enough of Statesmen—of men who have guided Armies in the field, or dictated as Sages in the Cabinet, for the exclusive purpose of Ambition. History from its earliest page to the present day, has offered to our contemplation, only ONE WASHINGTON, but ONE MAN, whose dangers in war, and labors in in peace, were undertaken and supported with a single eye, to the benefit of his country; whose wonderful and honorable success, was the plain result of wisdom in design, and valour in execution; whom danger never appalled, nor defeat depressed; who, persevering in the justice of his cause, wooed Victory till he won her: who covetted no reward but the well earned approbation of those whose interest he lived to promote: who renounced all public honors, when they ceased to be the necessary instruments of good to the people, whose gratitude conferred them: who superior to all Monarchs, was content to be called the American Citizen. His career of glory through life was unstained by crime; and his death was felt as a loss by every individual of that community, whose political existence was the fruit of his exertions.

THE FAREWELL ADDRESS of General Washington is the condensed result of long experienced, matured reflection and strong anxiety for the permanent prosperity of his country. His advice concerning the great importance of maintaining indissolubly the federal Union: the danger of indulging too much in party feelings:—the necessity of supporting public credit at home:—of maintaining public faith in all our transactions with foreign nations: of encouraging foreign intercourse free from foreign attachments:—are so many lessons of prudence which we should do well to bear in constant remembrance. Why therefore should not his legacy of wisdom and affection, be so published, as to admit of being constantly before our eyes? An ornament to our apartments, while it serves as a memento to guide our public feelings, and to manifest that the author lives in our memories?

To make it such, is the aim of the proposed Edition.

The Publishers are determined that the Address shall be printed on paper of the same quality and size as the splendid edition of the Declaration of Independence now engraving, & shall in all respects be a companion worthy that great State paper.

As errors are known from various causes to find their way into the most important writings, the publishers feel it their duty, not only to satisfy themselves, but to satisfy the public, of the authentjcity of the copy from which this splendid Edition of the Farewell Address shall be published.

MR. GEORGE BRIDPORT will complete the Design; of which the following is an outline:—The introductory part of the Address, in highly finished ornamental penmanship, shall form the upper part;—the other parts of the plate, shall be appropriate ornaments;—in the centre below shall be engraved, from an historical design for this publication by Mr. Sully the Surrender of the British Army at York-town, October 19, 1781.

The Address itself shall be printed with type of a peculiar and appropriate character, designed for this purpose by Mr. Fairman, and to be cut and cast by our best artists. No more of the type shall be cast than will be necessary to execute this Address: & when it shall be compleated, the type and the matrices in which it was cast shall be utterly destroyed; so that no other work shall ever be executed by the same letter which shall have printed the "FAREWELL ADDRESS" of him who lived and died, first in War; first in Peace, and first in the hearts of his Countrymen.

The paper, of the first quality, 36 by 26 inches, will be made by MR. Amies. The INK shall be carefully prepared, and of the best materials.

The signature of General Washington from which it is proposed to execute a fac simile for this publication, is that which he affixed to the Constitution of the United States, when he signed it as President of the Convention in which it was framed; Thus associating and concentrating some of the greatest events in the life of this great man and in the history of his Country.

The ornamental writing will be designed and executed in the very best manner; the ornamental parts of the design and vignette, will be engraved by G. FAIRMAN: and the Typographical part executed by John Binns. They will take especial care of the execution of their several duties in this respect, and they will call to their aid, all that liberality, zeal and industry can command from the Sciences and Arts, so as to make the "Farewell Address" no mean specimen of the state of the Fine Arts in the United States.

As much progress has already been made in designing and procuring materials for this splended edition of Gen. Washington's "Farewell Address," it is expected it will be ready for delivery, with the Splended Edition of the Declaration of Independence, in the month of December next. That the public may have a more perfect view of the design and style of execution, than can be given in a proposal, of this Tribute to the memory of him who was "a Conqueror for the Freedom of his Country! A "Legislator for its Security! A magistrate for its Happiness," it is not intended to solicit any Subscsiptions until the Ornamental parts of the plate shall be executed. It will then be submitted for public inspection and public patronage, at five dollars a Copy, payable on the delivery of the Engraving. Philadelphia, July 31
